

CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP

DOWNLOAD EBOOK : CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP PDF

Click link bellow and free register to download ebook:

CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP

DOWNLOAD FROM OUR ONLINE LIBRARY

CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP PDF

Getting the publications Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump now is not kind of hard method. You could not just opting for publication shop or library or borrowing from your close friends to review them. This is an extremely basic method to specifically get the book by online. This online book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump can be among the options to accompany you when having spare time. It will certainly not squander your time. Think me, the book will certainly reveal you brand-new point to check out. Merely invest little time to open this on-line book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump and also review them wherever you are now.

About the Author

Donald J. Trump is the very definition of the American success story, continually setting the standards of excellence while expanding his interests in real estate, sports, and entertainment. He is a graduate of the Wharton School of Finance. An accomplished author, Mr. Trump has authored over fifteen bestsellers and his first book, The Art of the Deal, is considered a business classic and one of the most successful business books of all time. Mr. Trump has over eight million followers on social media and is a frequent guest across a variety of media platforms.

Excerpt. © Reprinted by permission. All rights reserved.

Crippled America PREFACE YOU GOTTA BELIEVE
PEOPLE SAY THAT I have self-confidence. Who knows?

When I began speaking out, I was a realist.

I knew the relentless and incompetent naysayers of the status quo would anxiously line up against me, and they have:

The politicians who talk a great game in campaigns—and play like total losers when they try to actually govern because they can't govern; they don't know how to govern.

The lobbyists and special interests with their hands in our pockets on behalf of their clients or others.

The members of the media who are so far lost when it comes to being fair that they have no concept of the difference between “fact” and “opinion.”

The illegal immigrants who have taken jobs that should go to people here legally, while over 20 percent of Americans are currently unemployed or underemployed. Believe me, they're all over the place. I see them. I talk to them. I hug them. I hold them. They are all over the place.

Congress, which has been deadlocked for years and virtually unable to deal with any of our most pressing domestic problems, or even the most basic ones, such as passing a budget. Think of it: a little thing like passing the budget. They don't even have a clue.

Meanwhile, the bedrock of this country—the middle class—and those 45 million Americans stuck in poverty have seen their incomes decline over the past 20 years. Understandably, their disenchantment and frustration at what's happening grows every day, and it gets worse and worse and worse.

And even our lawyers and judges, the reflective “wise men,” have been stepping all over the US Constitution, the bulwark of our democracy. They have recklessly appointed themselves to be policy makers, because our actual elected officials are paralyzed by partisanship. They can't move; they can't act. They are totally impotent.

As for the presidency and the executive branch, the incompetence is beyond belief.

As I write this, Russian president Vladimir Putin is totally outmaneuvering our president by putting together a coalition in Syria that will make Putin the only effective leader in the world. He and his allies—most notably Iran—have positioned themselves exactly where President Obama and our military have failed miserably for years. They are total failures. They are not leaders. We are no longer a leader. Putin has become the leader, and it's an embarrassment to our country.

We've wasted literally trillions of dollars in the Middle East, with virtually nothing to show for it except for alienating our best ally, Israel. To make matters worse, we've negotiated a worthless and costly nuclear treaty with Iran (now Russia's best friend) on the supposition that it will lead to greater harmony and world peace, which it won't. It will lead to just the opposite.

The idea of American Greatness, of our country as the leader of the free and unfree world, has vanished.

Despite all of these challenges—and actually because of the challenges—I decided to do something about it. I couldn't stand to see what was happening to our great country. This mess calls for leadership in the worst way. It needs someone with common sense and business acumen, someone who can truly lead America back to what has made us great in the past.

We need someone with a proven track record in business who understands greatness, someone who can rally us to the standard of excellence we once epitomized and explain what needs to be done.

When I started speaking out, I had no idea what the reaction would be. I know I'm a great builder, I've built buildings all over the world. I've had tremendous success. But I hadn't fully exposed my political thoughts and ideas to restore America's greatness.

I also knew that the Trump brand is one of the world's great icons of quality and excellence. Everybody talks about it. Everybody knows about it. It's very very special. I'm very proud of it. Our buildings and resorts now stand very proudly (and beautifully) all over the United States and in many other countries.

I started with the issue of illegal immigration, and proposed building a major wall that would be very high and completely impervious to the flood of immigrants who we don't want or need here illegally. We love people coming in, but not when it's done illegally.

Suddenly, Americans started to wake up to what was going on with regard to illegal immigration. Despite the large number of candidates who were running for the Republican nomination, what I was saying started to really hit home with people, and everybody picked it up and they picked it up gladly.

I started drawing crowds so large that we had to move our rallies into football stadiums and convention centers. The first national debate drew 24 million viewers, which set a record for cable television. Despite some of the ridiculous, antagonistic questions—or maybe because of them—I fought back as I always do and began to explain my vision. As a result, most people thought I won the debate.

People were applauding. All of a sudden, people who had never cared about elections or never voted were rushing to our rallies. The rallies became massive. The crowds were unbelievable. The enthusiasm was based on pure love and love of what we were doing.

The media, the politicians, and the so-called leaders of our country reacted in horror. But I persevered and went directly to the people, because I don't need anyone's financial support, nor do I need anyone's approval of what I say or do. I just had to do the right thing. I had to do it. I had no choice. I see what's happening to our country; it's going to hell. I had to do it.

I have now begun to fill in some of the details of my vision. I've released a tax plan that gives the middle class and those with lower incomes a chance to keep more of what they earn, while restructuring how the richest Americans will be paying taxes.

I've committed to a truly more powerful military, one prepared and equipped to stand up to any and all of our foes. When we draw a line in the sand, it needs to mean something to all—especially our enemies.

I've introduced a whole new approach to job creation by encouraging companies to bring more of their jobs and manufacturing back to America (home where it belongs), along with the trillions of dollars currently being held in foreign banks overseas. We're bringing that money back. It's a massive amount of money. And guess what? Lots of good things are going to happen. They're going to spend that money on roads, on bridges, on companies, on jobs. It's going to be amazing.

I've explained why Obamacare is a costly, ludicrous solution to our health care woes and one which must be repealed and replaced with a much better option. We need to fix the problem by creating competition in the private sector between insurance companies, and by allowing patients to choose the family doctors they want. This will be a much better plan, a much less costly plan—better doctors, better service. It will be something really special. And think of it: the United States will save a fortune as a country. People will be better served. A combination that cannot be beat.

Competition is a magic word in education as well. Parents should have the right to choose the schools where their kids can get the best education. The weaker schools will be closed, and ineffective teachers will be fired. One-size-fits-all education—Common Core—is bad. It's not going to happen. We don't want our children to be educated from Washington. We want local education. Education should be locally based.

Domestically, we need to undertake a massive rebuilding of our infrastructure. Too many bridges have become dangerous, our roads are decaying and full of potholes, while traffic jams are costing millions in lost income for drivers who have jobs in congested cities. Public transit is overcrowded and unreliable and our airports must be rebuilt. You go to countries like China and many others and you look at their train systems and their public transport. It's so much better. We're like a third-world country.

I could go on and on regarding many of the ideas I've written about in this book, and more that will be forthcoming. But let me add that while my critics are pushing their policy agendas, the last thing we need are more plans that evaporate after the elections.

What we need is leadership that can deal with our mess and begin to apply practical solutions to our problems. My goal is not to design hundreds of pages of government regulation and red tape like others propose. We need to outline commonsense policies and then knock some heads together if necessary to make them work. The fact is we are over-regulated. People can't move. They're stymied. Companies can't be built. We're over-regulated.

I know how to deal with complex issues and how to bring together all the various elements necessary for success. I've done it for years and have built a great company and a massive net worth.

This book is designed to give the reader a better understanding of me and my ideas for our future. I'm a really nice guy, believe me, I pride myself on being a nice guy but I'm also passionate and determined to make our country great again.

It's time we turn America around from despair and anger to joy and accomplishment. It can happen, and it will happen.

Our best days still lie ahead. There is so much untapped greatness in our country. We're rich in natural resources, and we're rich in human talent.

Enjoy this book—and together, let's make America great again!

CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP PDF

Download: CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP PDF

Invest your time also for just few minutes to read a book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump Checking out a book will never ever minimize as well as lose your time to be ineffective. Checking out, for some individuals end up being a need that is to do daily such as spending quality time for consuming. Now, just what concerning you? Do you prefer to review a book? Now, we will certainly reveal you a brand-new publication qualified Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump that can be a brand-new way to check out the understanding. When reviewing this book, you can get one thing to constantly keep in mind in every reading time, even detailed.

Right here, we have various publication Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump as well as collections to read. We additionally offer alternative kinds and kinds of the e-books to look. The fun book, fiction, past history, novel, science, and also various other sorts of e-books are available here. As this Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump, it ends up being one of the recommended e-book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump collections that we have. This is why you remain in the right site to see the impressive e-books to own.

It will not take even more time to download this Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump It won't take even more cash to publish this book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump Nowadays, individuals have been so wise to utilize the innovation. Why do not you use your kitchen appliance or other device to conserve this downloaded and install soft documents book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump This method will let you to constantly be gone along with by this publication Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump Of course, it will be the very best good friend if you read this book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump till finished.

CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP PDF

Look at the state of the world right now. It's a terrible mess, and that's putting it mildly. There has never been a more dangerous time. The politicians and special interests in Washington, DC, are directly responsible for the mess we are in. So why should we continue listening to them?

It's time to bring America back to its rightful owners—the American people.

I'm not going to play the same game politicians have been playing for decades—all talk, no action, while special interests and lobbyists dictate our laws. I am shaking up the establishment on both sides of the political aisle because I can't be bought. I want to bring America back, to make it great and prosperous again, and to be sure we are respected by our allies and feared by our adversaries.

It's time for action. Americans are fed up with politics as usual. And they should be! In this book, I outline my vision to make America great again, including: how to fix our failing economy; how to reform health care so it is more efficient, cost-effective, and doesn't alienate both doctors and patients; how to rebuild our military and start winning wars—instead of watching our enemies take over—while keeping our promises to our great veterans; how to ensure that our education system offers the resources that allow our students to compete internationally, so tomorrow's jobseekers have the tools they need to succeed; and how to immediately bring jobs back to America by closing our doors to illegal immigrants, and pressuring businesses to produce their goods at home.

This book is my blueprint for how to Make America Great Again. It's not hard. We just need someone with the courage to say what needs to be said. We won't find that in Washington, DC.

- Sales Rank: #3143 in Books
- Published on: 2015-11-03
- Released on: 2015-11-03
- Original language: English
- Number of items: 1
- Dimensions: 8.37" h x .90" w x 5.50" l, .64 pounds
- Binding: Hardcover
- 208 pages

About the Author

Donald J. Trump is the very definition of the American success story, continually setting the standards of excellence while expanding his interests in real estate, sports, and entertainment. He is a graduate of the Wharton School of Finance. An accomplished author, Mr. Trump has authored over fifteen bestsellers and his first book, The Art of the Deal, is considered a business classic and one of the most successful business books of all time. Mr. Trump has over eight million followers on social media and is a frequent guest across a variety of media platforms.

Excerpt. © Reprinted by permission. All rights reserved.
Crippled America PREFACE YOU GOTTA BELIEVE
PEOPLE SAY THAT I have self-confidence. Who knows?

When I began speaking out, I was a realist.

I knew the relentless and incompetent naysayers of the status quo would anxiously line up against me, and they have:

The politicians who talk a great game in campaigns—and play like total losers when they try to actually govern because they can't govern; they don't know how to govern.

The lobbyists and special interests with their hands in our pockets on behalf of their clients or others.

The members of the media who are so far lost when it comes to being fair that they have no concept of the difference between “fact” and “opinion.”

The illegal immigrants who have taken jobs that should go to people here legally, while over 20 percent of Americans are currently unemployed or underemployed. Believe me, they're all over the place. I see them. I talk to them. I hug them. I hold them. They are all over the place.

Congress, which has been deadlocked for years and virtually unable to deal with any of our most pressing domestic problems, or even the most basic ones, such as passing a budget. Think of it: a little thing like passing the budget. They don't even have a clue.

Meanwhile, the bedrock of this country—the middle class—and those 45 million Americans stuck in poverty have seen their incomes decline over the past 20 years. Understandably, their disenchantment and frustration at what's happening grows every day, and it gets worse and worse and worse.

And even our lawyers and judges, the reflective “wise men,” have been stepping all over the US Constitution, the bulwark of our democracy. They have recklessly appointed themselves to be policy makers, because our actual elected officials are paralyzed by partisanship. They can't move; they can't act. They are totally impotent.

As for the presidency and the executive branch, the incompetence is beyond belief.

As I write this, Russian president Vladimir Putin is totally outmaneuvering our president by putting together a coalition in Syria that will make Putin the only effective leader in the world. He and his allies—most notably Iran—have positioned themselves exactly where President Obama and our military have failed miserably for years. They are total failures. They are not leaders. We are no longer a leader. Putin has become the leader, and it's an embarrassment to our country.

We've wasted literally trillions of dollars in the Middle East, with virtually nothing to show for it except for alienating our best ally, Israel. To make matters worse, we've negotiated a worthless and costly nuclear treaty with Iran (now Russia's best friend) on the supposition that it will lead to greater harmony and world peace, which it won't. It will lead to just the opposite.

The idea of American Greatness, of our country as the leader of the free and unfree world, has vanished.

Despite all of these challenges—and actually because of the challenges—I decided to do something about it. I couldn't stand to see what was happening to our great country. This mess calls for leadership in the worst way. It needs someone with common sense and business acumen, someone who can truly lead America back to what has made us great in the past.

We need someone with a proven track record in business who understands greatness, someone who can rally us to the standard of excellence we once epitomized and explain what needs to be done.

When I started speaking out, I had no idea what the reaction would be. I know I'm a great builder, I've built buildings all over the world. I've had tremendous success. But I hadn't fully exposed my political thoughts and ideas to restore America's greatness.

I also knew that the Trump brand is one of the world's great icons of quality and excellence. Everybody talks about it. Everybody knows about it. It's very very special. I'm very proud of it. Our buildings and resorts now stand very proudly (and beautifully) all over the United States and in many other countries.

I started with the issue of illegal immigration, and proposed building a major wall that would be very high and completely impervious to the flood of immigrants who we don't want or need here illegally. We love people coming in, but not when it's done illegally.

Suddenly, Americans started to wake up to what was going on with regard to illegal immigration. Despite the large number of candidates who were running for the Republican nomination, what I was saying started to really hit home with people, and everybody picked it up and they picked it up gladly.

I started drawing crowds so large that we had to move our rallies into football stadiums and convention centers. The first national debate drew 24 million viewers, which set a record for cable television. Despite some of the ridiculous, antagonistic questions—or maybe because of them—I fought back as I always do and began to explain my vision. As a result, most people thought I won the debate.

People were applauding. All of a sudden, people who had never cared about elections or never voted were rushing to our rallies. The rallies became massive. The crowds were unbelievable. The enthusiasm was based on pure love and love of what we were doing.

The media, the politicians, and the so-called leaders of our country reacted in horror. But I persevered and went directly to the people, because I don't need anyone's financial support, nor do I need anyone's approval of what I say or do. I just had to do the right thing. I had to do it. I had no choice. I see what's happening to our country; it's going to hell. I had to do it.

I have now begun to fill in some of the details of my vision. I've released a tax plan that gives the middle class and those with lower incomes a chance to keep more of what they earn, while restructuring how the richest Americans will be paying taxes.

I've committed to a truly more powerful military, one prepared and equipped to stand up to any and all of our foes. When we draw a line in the sand, it needs to mean something to all—especially our enemies.

I've introduced a whole new approach to job creation by encouraging companies to bring more of their jobs and manufacturing back to America (home where it belongs), along with the trillions of dollars currently being held in foreign banks overseas. We're bringing that money back. It's a massive amount of money. And guess what? Lots of good things are going to happen. They're going to spend that money on roads, on bridges, on companies, on jobs. It's going to be amazing.

I've explained why Obamacare is a costly, ludicrous solution to our health care woes and one which must be repealed and replaced with a much better option. We need to fix the problem by creating competition in the private sector between insurance companies, and by allowing patients to choose the family doctors they want. This will be a much better plan, a much less costly plan—better doctors, better service. It will be something really special. And think of it: the United States will save a fortune as a country. People will be better served. A combination that cannot be beat.

Competition is a magic word in education as well. Parents should have the right to choose the schools where their kids can get the best education. The weaker schools will be closed, and ineffective teachers will be fired. One-size-fits-all education—Common Core—is bad. It's not going to happen. We don't want our children to be educated from Washington. We want local education. Education should be locally based.

Domestically, we need to undertake a massive rebuilding of our infrastructure. Too many bridges have become dangerous, our roads are decaying and full of potholes, while traffic jams are costing millions in lost income for drivers who have jobs in congested cities. Public transit is overcrowded and unreliable and our airports must be rebuilt. You go to countries like China and many others and you look at their train systems and their public transport. It's so much better. We're like a third-world country.

I could go on and on regarding many of the ideas I've written about in this book, and more that will be forthcoming. But let me add that while my critics are pushing their policy agendas, the last thing we need are more plans that evaporate after the elections.

What we need is leadership that can deal with our mess and begin to apply practical solutions to our problems. My goal is not to design hundreds of pages of government regulation and red tape like others propose. We need to outline commonsense policies and then knock some heads together if necessary to make them work. The fact is we are over-regulated. People can't move. They're stymied. Companies can't be built. We're over-regulated.

I know how to deal with complex issues and how to bring together all the various elements necessary for success. I've done it for years and have built a great company and a massive net worth.

This book is designed to give the reader a better understanding of me and my ideas for our future. I'm a really nice guy, believe me, I pride myself on being a nice guy but I'm also passionate and determined to make our country great again.

It's time we turn America around from despair and anger to joy and accomplishment. It can happen, and it will happen.

Our best days still lie ahead. There is so much untapped greatness in our country. We're rich in natural resources, and we're rich in human talent.

Enjoy this book—and together, let's make America great again!

Most helpful customer reviews

538 of 698 people found the following review helpful.

Good read for those unfamiliar with Trump, and for the people who are hardcore fans.

By Zack Reece

Now I've got to be honest. This is my first review of any product online, and my first time reading any book, let alone a political book since I graduated high school three years ago. I hate books, and I hate politics. But I owed myself, because I love Trump. I never thought in a million years someone would open my eyes to the world of politics, and make me actually understand what is actually happening to our country. I was completely blind to the fact that our country is in such dire shape prior to Trump's announcement that he is running for president, and oh he is running.

Since his announcement, I have been following his every move. Everyday I get online and search for anything, and everything Trump. Things such as videos of him speaking on the campaign trail, policy proposals on the VA, tax plans, and of course the debates. Oh how I love to watch him put politicians, and more recently moderators in their place, yes I'm talking to you MSNBC. You can't stump the Trump, he is on a whole other level when it comes to these talking heads. He can't be bought, if you insult him he will K.O. you, and the liberal media can't stand him. There's a famous quote by Mahatma Gandhi "First they ignore you, then they laugh at you, then they fight you, then you win." This pretty much sums up the Media vs. Trump scenario we have been seeing for the past four months. But I digress.

Donald Trump has charged the public with a vast amount of anger and, disgust with how our government is run. We have been taken advantage of by the incapable politicians in Washington long enough, and I believe a vast amount of people are just fed up. We need a true leader not bought and paid for by special interests, and one that will not only stand up for himself/herself, but stand up for the people as well.

Many of the stuff written in the book will be very familiar to someone that has been following Trump since the beginning. But for someone who is skeptical, or unsure about Trump and his billionaire persona based on what they hear in the media. I urge you, do yourself a favor and read the book and form your own opinion from the man himself. He may be rich, and bombastic, but he truly has good intentions, and aspirations for the country.

491 of 639 people found the following review helpful.

A clear, convincing, no-nonsense approach to resurrecting America.

By Stanley

I've never commented on or left reviews for Amazon books previously-mostly because there are very few books which merit review-but this is a rare gem. It's an absolutely brilliant, no-nonsense look at some of the major problems facing the country today. This book comes to life with Trump's characteristic "tell-it-like-it-is" attitude and his clear focus on illustrating how to solve important issues logically instead of resorting to fear, anger, or timidity. Is the style/tone a bit bombastic from time to time? Absolutely. However, it adds fire and vigor to the topics at hand, both of which are crucial ingredients in ensuring that all voters understand the significance of the points which are made. While Trump doesn't focus on his failures, there's quite honestly no need to: Every major media outlet (with the exception of a few such as Breitbart) despises the man due to their fear and insecurity about the people electing a President who isn't a puppet and they regularly exaggerate his shortcomings.

A must-read. Apart from the book itself, on a more socially minded note, electing Trump may be the single most important decision the American people make this decade. He's self-funded (doesn't beg from anyone), speaks his mind with clarity, genuinely wants to help, and has a track record of massive business success, something which none of the other career politicians on stage have.

It's time.

155 of 200 people found the following review helpful.

Even non-humans give it five stars.

By Faith Of God

"It is comfy." - Guy the cat

See all 1187 customer reviews...

CRIPPLED AMERICA: HOW TO MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN BY DONALD J. TRUMP PDF

Be the first to purchase this book now and obtain all reasons you have to read this Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump Guide Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump is not just for your responsibilities or requirement in your life. Books will certainly always be a buddy in each time you check out. Now, let the others understand about this page. You could take the advantages and discuss it also for your good friends as well as people around you. By this method, you can actually obtain the definition of this publication Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump beneficially. Exactly what do you believe regarding our concept here?

About the Author

Donald J. Trump is the very definition of the American success story, continually setting the standards of excellence while expanding his interests in real estate, sports, and entertainment. He is a graduate of the Wharton School of Finance. An accomplished author, Mr. Trump has authored over fifteen bestsellers and his first book, The Art of the Deal, is considered a business classic and one of the most successful business books of all time. Mr. Trump has over eight million followers on social media and is a frequent guest across a variety of media platforms.

Excerpt. © Reprinted by permission. All rights reserved.

Crippled America PREFACE YOU GOTTA BELIEVE
PEOPLE SAY THAT I have self-confidence. Who knows?

When I began speaking out, I was a realist.

I knew the relentless and incompetent naysayers of the status quo would anxiously line up against me, and they have:

The politicians who talk a great game in campaigns—and play like total losers when they try to actually govern because they can't govern; they don't know how to govern.

The lobbyists and special interests with their hands in our pockets on behalf of their clients or others.

The members of the media who are so far lost when it comes to being fair that they have no concept of the difference between “fact” and “opinion.”

The illegal immigrants who have taken jobs that should go to people here legally, while over 20 percent of Americans are currently unemployed or underemployed. Believe me, they're all over the place. I see them. I talk to them. I hug them. I hold them. They are all over the place.

Congress, which has been deadlocked for years and virtually unable to deal with any of our most pressing domestic problems, or even the most basic ones, such as passing a budget. Think of it: a little thing like passing the budget. They don't even have a clue.

Meanwhile, the bedrock of this country—the middle class—and those 45 million Americans stuck in poverty have seen their incomes decline over the past 20 years. Understandably, their disenchantment and frustration at what's happening grows every day, and it gets worse and worse and worse.

And even our lawyers and judges, the reflective “wise men,” have been stepping all over the US Constitution, the bulwark of our democracy. They have recklessly appointed themselves to be policy makers, because our actual elected officials are paralyzed by partisanship. They can't move; they can't act. They are totally impotent.

As for the presidency and the executive branch, the incompetence is beyond belief.

As I write this, Russian president Vladimir Putin is totally outmaneuvering our president by putting together a coalition in Syria that will make Putin the only effective leader in the world. He and his allies—most notably Iran—have positioned themselves exactly where President Obama and our military have failed miserably for years. They are total failures. They are not leaders. We are no longer a leader. Putin has become the leader, and it's an embarrassment to our country.

We've wasted literally trillions of dollars in the Middle East, with virtually nothing to show for it except for alienating our best ally, Israel. To make matters worse, we've negotiated a worthless and costly nuclear treaty with Iran (now Russia's best friend) on the supposition that it will lead to greater harmony and world peace, which it won't. It will lead to just the opposite.

The idea of American Greatness, of our country as the leader of the free and unfree world, has vanished.

Despite all of these challenges—and actually because of the challenges—I decided to do something about it. I couldn't stand to see what was happening to our great country. This mess calls for leadership in the worst way. It needs someone with common sense and business acumen, someone who can truly lead America back to what has made us great in the past.

We need someone with a proven track record in business who understands greatness, someone who can rally us to the standard of excellence we once epitomized and explain what needs to be done.

When I started speaking out, I had no idea what the reaction would be. I know I'm a great builder, I've built buildings all over the world. I've had tremendous success. But I hadn't fully exposed my political thoughts and ideas to restore America's greatness.

I also knew that the Trump brand is one of the world's great icons of quality and excellence. Everybody talks about it. Everybody knows about it. It's very very special. I'm very proud of it. Our buildings and resorts now stand very proudly (and beautifully) all over the United States and in many other countries.

I started with the issue of illegal immigration, and proposed building a major wall that would be very high and completely impervious to the flood of immigrants who we don't want or need here illegally. We love people coming in, but not when it's done illegally.

Suddenly, Americans started to wake up to what was going on with regard to illegal immigration. Despite the large number of candidates who were running for the Republican nomination, what I was saying started to really hit home with people, and everybody picked it up and they picked it up gladly.

I started drawing crowds so large that we had to move our rallies into football stadiums and convention centers. The first national debate drew 24 million viewers, which set a record for cable television. Despite some of the ridiculous, antagonistic questions—or maybe because of them—I fought back as I always do and began to explain my vision. As a result, most people thought I won the debate.

People were applauding. All of a sudden, people who had never cared about elections or never voted were rushing to our rallies. The rallies became massive. The crowds were unbelievable. The enthusiasm was based on pure love and love of what we were doing.

The media, the politicians, and the so-called leaders of our country reacted in horror. But I persevered and went directly to the people, because I don't need anyone's financial support, nor do I need anyone's approval of what I say or do. I just had to do the right thing. I had to do it. I had no choice. I see what's happening to our country; it's going to hell. I had to do it.

I have now begun to fill in some of the details of my vision. I've released a tax plan that gives the middle class and those with lower incomes a chance to keep more of what they earn, while restructuring how the richest Americans will be paying taxes.

I've committed to a truly more powerful military, one prepared and equipped to stand up to any and all of our foes. When we draw a line in the sand, it needs to mean something to all—especially our enemies.

I've introduced a whole new approach to job creation by encouraging companies to bring more of their jobs and manufacturing back to America (home where it belongs), along with the trillions of dollars currently being held in foreign banks overseas. We're bringing that money back. It's a massive amount of money. And guess what? Lots of good things are going to happen. They're going to spend that money on roads, on bridges, on companies, on jobs. It's going to be amazing.

I've explained why Obamacare is a costly, ludicrous solution to our health care woes and one which must be repealed and replaced with a much better option. We need to fix the problem by creating competition in the private sector between insurance companies, and by allowing patients to choose the family doctors they want. This will be a much better plan, a much less costly plan—better doctors, better service. It will be something really special. And think of it: the United States will save a fortune as a country. People will be better served. A combination that cannot be beat.

Competition is a magic word in education as well. Parents should have the right to choose the schools where their kids can get the best education. The weaker schools will be closed, and ineffective teachers will be fired. One-size-fits-all education—Common Core—is bad. It's not going to happen. We don't want our children to be educated from Washington. We want local education. Education should be locally based.

Domestically, we need to undertake a massive rebuilding of our infrastructure. Too many bridges have become dangerous, our roads are decaying and full of potholes, while traffic jams are costing millions in lost income for drivers who have jobs in congested cities. Public transit is overcrowded and unreliable and our airports must be rebuilt. You go to countries like China and many others and you look at their train systems and their public transport. It's so much better. We're like a third-world country.

I could go on and on regarding many of the ideas I've written about in this book, and more that will be forthcoming. But let me add that while my critics are pushing their policy agendas, the last thing we need are more plans that evaporate after the elections.

What we need is leadership that can deal with our mess and begin to apply practical solutions to our problems. My goal is not to design hundreds of pages of government regulation and red tape like others propose. We need to outline commonsense policies and then knock some heads together if necessary to make them work. The fact is we are over-regulated. People can't move. They're stymied. Companies can't be built. We're over-regulated.

I know how to deal with complex issues and how to bring together all the various elements necessary for success. I've done it for years and have built a great company and a massive net worth.

This book is designed to give the reader a better understanding of me and my ideas for our future. I'm a really nice guy, believe me, I pride myself on being a nice guy but I'm also passionate and determined to make our country great again.

It's time we turn America around from despair and anger to joy and accomplishment. It can happen, and it will happen.

Our best days still lie ahead. There is so much untapped greatness in our country. We're rich in natural resources, and we're rich in human talent.

Enjoy this book—and together, let's make America great again!

Getting the publications Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump now is not kind of hard method. You could not just opting for publication shop or library or borrowing from your close friends to review them. This is an extremely basic method to specifically get the book by online. This online book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump can be among the options to accompany you when having spare time. It will certainly not squander your time. Think me, the book will certainly reveal you brand-new point to check out. Merely invest little time to open this on-line book Crippled America: How To Make America Great Again By Donald J. Trump and also review them wherever you are now.