The devotional and mystical literature of the Ismailis in the Indo-Pakistan subcontinent is a little known but rich seam of creativity in the cultural heritage of Islam. The book focuses on the Ginans, a large corpus of hymns and poems composed in a variety of Indic languages and attributed to a series of preacher-saints who propagated the Ismaili form of Islam in the subcontinent over several centuries.

Fascinating at many levels

By S. Ajani

It is very rare that one comes across literature that is both sublime and significant in a non-pretentious way. Once I got over the fact that my vocabulary is perhaps not as developed as I thought, and swallowed my pride, the book is a fascinating look at ginans; a specialized literature of the Indo-Pak Ismaili Muslims. Besides the main subject matter, I found it very interesting that I came across many concepts that I never thought of... For example, the concept of "pre-eternity"... Just the thought of it gives one inspiration to seek other works from Asani. Well done.
